Dear Ms. Maia Bellon, Director
Washington State Dept of Ecology,

Please oppose the Millennium Bulk Terminal Project, please instead choose the "No action" alternative in the Millennium Bulk Terminals Draft Environmental Impact Statement. This project involving dirty coal exports would be the largest coal export terminal in America, and would endanger the health and safety of the surrounding community in the short run while also dramatically increasing carbon pollution in the long run.

Coal is a dying industry, and is on its way out as an energy source in America due to being the most polluting form of energy. So now the coal companies have shifted to exporting coal to developing nations where pollution standards and laws are weaker. Stop this insane coal terminal!

Sincerely,
Kathy Lakriola
