To Whom It May Concern,

I urge you to think carefully before building the Millenium Bulk Terminal Project. This project will once again trample on native American rights, as we have done so many times in the past, sadly. It will greatly increase carbon pollution; we certainly do not need that. It will endanger the surrounding community by spreading toxic coal dust; you would not want yourself, your family endangered by breathing this toxic contaminant; one's individual health is of great importance and concern. Please, do not ignore the impact of this project on tribal communities it will have a negative impact on tribal fishing as well as contributing to the climate change affecting every human being. Please consider these important issues

Sincerely,
Carol Sue Scherpenisse
