Re: Cherry Point et.al.
re: coal train terminals

Dear Colleagues:

You have ample documentation, history, and a litany of horrors regarding the mining, transportation and burning and processing coal. You need only check out China, India, Bolivia, Africa for mind examples of coal and other mineral mining and processing, export and usage.

But the human cost cannot be exaggerated. These aren't jobs, it's slavery. And sort in with this latest promise of good money.

I was born in Youngstown Ohio. I watched coal do its dirty number on a beautiful area of the country, and watched people struggle and starve after the mills were closed and there was no longer a need for coal or the products it supported.

Coal kills. Extracting it, transporting it, burning it. Coal kills. All for the fantasy of easy money.

Don't repeat the past, the ongoing tragedies made graphic by coal. Stop Cherry Point. Save Lives.
