This, I am sure, is a repeat of many of the concerns you have already heard. I write to add the voices of our family. Our families have been life long residents of the Vancouver, Camas and Washougal areas.

The trains have always been with us. The possibility of more coal and oil trains change the dynamic in so many ways;

1) Increase major sources of pollution from

* diesel
* coal dust
  - along tracks which many of us live by
  - in the rivers and waterways
  - port sites
* noise
* from coal generated power in Asia

2) Traffic delays for emergency response vehicles.

Our family hope the decision to protect our environment, our health, the livability of our neighborhoods and (over please)

city will be forthcoming with a "NO" to coal ports and trains.

Respectfully submitted,
The Killian Family
