After looking at the proposed NEPA process that will be conducted for this project I have great concern that a very narrow scope of issues is being addressed and that many potential impacts will not be considered. A much more comprehensive approach should be taken that deals with all possible issues that could be involved in the delivery of coal to the proposed port. This could only be done through a programmatic EIS process that considers a more complete picture, from mining of the coal to the end users of the coal product.

Respectfully,
