I have huge concerns re: impact on transportation + quality of life in the affected communities given the sheer # of trains/day. Also, emergency services + lack of planning dollars + time for affected towns/cities.

Impact of coal/loss/spilled is terrifying when one considers the age of the infrastructure involved.

The lack of air quality studies re: the volume of coal transported thru communities is also of enormous concern. Coal as a source of energy is a rising proportion for future generations. We should not be adding to the volume of coal burned as an energy source. This is not a responsible solution.

If have not yet addressed noise. I recently stood near a freight train going thru Bellingham. Noise pollution can not be dismissed.
