It is irresponsible to promote coal as a viable energy alternative. This facility not only promotes dirty energy it provides the source material. Washington, the Evergreen State should set an example to the world that we seek clean energy and conservation and care about this planet. As a citizen of Spokane, I do not see any benefit to our community at all. We are sitting in a river valley that just sucks in the pollution. We want a healthy future, we want to attract clean innovative jobs. This trail of coal dust will just discourage those folks from coming here to hire us.
