As we all know, the current course of continued use of fossil fuels will soon lead to our own destruction. Indeed we may already have reached a tipping point. For all the time, energy and money spent to continue <sup>the road</sup> downward self destruction, how quickly would find incredible healthy alternatives if we spent this some amount on solving the problem instead of ignoring it. Please stop wasting our time energy and money to continue a failed fuel source. I could approve of this idea ONLY if they would guarantee never to in any way harm the environment, water, air, land, and living creatures and ensure that they will compensate any damaged parties to return them to a safe unharmed state.
