

Dear Governor Inslee and local leaders:

Oil and coal transport is dirty, dangerous and disruptive. As oil and coal travel through the Pacific Northwest on trains, supertankers and barges, they pose serious threats to our communities, health, local economies, waterways, and climate.

It's time for Washington to lead on safe, renewable clean energy solutions and say no to more oil and coal.

Please do your part to stop these dangerous terminals.

I will do my part by having my voice heard and attending the upcoming hearings:

This summer: Tesoro Savage oil terminal proposal in Vancouver

This fall: Millennium Bulk Terminals coal terminal proposal in Longview

YES! I want to attend the summer and fall hearings. Please contact me with all the details! VB

Unfortunately I can't come to the hearings, but I support efforts to protect Washington communities from dirty coal and dangerous oil transportation. I join thousands of Northwest families calling on state leaders to take a stand and say no to coal exports and new oil projects.
